That's the dictum of Paris and Berlin as reported in the latest number of an absolute authority in textile matters, and it's always a delight to our house to have Black Goods to the fore, as our earnest efforts for years have 1—10 perfect this department. We select for description for new treatments of this elegant fabric from our large stock of Black Crepons:
FIRST—On a Barre surface is thrown up a fantastic pile in irregular wanderings like veigs in marble. Unlike any previous effect. Full of elegance. 8 ± 50.

SECOND—On a lusterless puckered surface are leaves of lacey transparency alternating with shooting figures like porcupine quills. $1 ± 50.

THIRD—The same lusterless puckered ground with zig-zag heavy luster stripes, very pronounced, as if they were an afterthough laid on. $2.

FOURTH—A semi-inster surface with crepon blisters upon which are chealille-like molilings. Another of the same family but more precise in arrangement. Both $2.50.

EVERY month brings fresh evidences of the inaccuracy of the claim made during the consideration of the Dingley Bill that a Protective Tariff would reduce our market abroad. A shipment of 6,000 tons of agricultural machinery to Russia in a single day, with announcement of a similar consignment APPEALTO THE PUBLIC for a few days later is one of the evidences of the growth, under a Protective Tariff, of our export business in manufactures, as well as that in farm products, which have been so strongly marked during the past year.

ENGLISH Free-traders seem to be taking alarm at the progress which Protective America and Protective Germany are making in capturing the iron trade of the world. The London Iron and Coal Trades Journal, commenting on the fact that both the United States and Germany made greater gains in the output of iron in 1897 than did England, and that the United States now leads the world in iron production, says: "When we come to consider the relatively larger strides made by both of our great rivals, it can hardly be said that our own circumstances are quite satisfactory."

THOSE recently-published tables, comparing prices at the date of the Chicago Coavention of 1896 with those of March, 1897, as shown by The Omaha World-Herald market reports, seem to have created a panic among the Democrats at the coarse of the cheer of the coarse of the cheer of the coarse of the cheer of the c Washington, Congressman BAILEY, the leader on the Democratic side of the House, having caused them to be stricken from the Congressional Record, in which they were published on motion of Congressman PEARSON of be prompt, numerous Do not wait for the North Carolina.
